State-Church Agreement Is Worked Out In Poland

By COLIN FOREST

WARSAW, Poland (P)—Poland's new anti-Stalinist Communist government and the Roman Catholic church hierarchy today announced a broad settlement of their differences including a restoration of religious education in state schools.

A joint communique said the church expressed full support for all government activities aimed at strengthening the Polish People's Republic and uniting the energies of all citizens for the common good.

The agreement was worked out by a joint state-church commission established after the release of Stefan Cardinal Wyszyński, Catholic primate of Poland, Oct. 28. He was kept under house arrest for three years. His release followed the elevation of Władysław Gomułka to leadership in the Polish Communist party.

The joint commission worked for four weeks to settle the state-church dispute. The restoration of religious education was a top demand by the church for any agreement.

The commission communique said the government wants to end all the hindrances to full freedom of religious life, adding:

"As a result of changes in public life aimed at establishing legality, justice, peaceful coexistence, the strengthening of social morality and the restitution of wrongs," the Catholic episcopate will extend to the government the church's "full understanding for these aspirations."

The announcement listed these main points in the state-church agreement:

1. Restoration of religious education to grade and high schools for children whose parents request it.
2. Permission for chaplains to work in hospitals and prisons.
3. Establishment of a government commission to arrange for the return of exiled priests and nuns to the western territories which Poland took over from Germany after World War II.
4. Recognition by the church that the state has a theoretical voice in church appointments. It

Lisbon Men Hurt As Car Hits Ditch

Two Lisbon men were hurt in an auto accident Friday at 11:45 p.m. when the car in which they were riding with Lawrence Fisher, 25, also of Lisbon, ran into a ditch and overturned on Rt. 517, six and a half miles northeast of Lisbon.

One passenger, Jack Adams, 26, is in fair condition in Salem City Hospital today with a possible fractured collarbone, possible fractured ribs, and abrasions of the forehead.

Another rider, Burleigh Grimes, 23, was treated for a puncture wound of the leg and abrasions of the head and leg. He was treated and released.

Fisher was uninjured but was arrested by state highway patrolmen for reckless operation.

Monnie Williams, 18, of Columbiana, was unhurt when her car was struck by a hit-skip driver Friday at 8:15 p.m. on County Road 423, two miles east of Columbiana, the patrol reported.

Earl Henry, 31, of Paden City, W. Va., was arrested for speeding after his auto collided with one driven by Marian Ricker, 28, of RD 4, Salem, on Rt. 45, five miles north of Lisbon Friday at 10:25 a.m.

Slate Fall Puts Local Miner In Hospital

A 51-year-old Salem miner is in "fair" condition today at the East Liverpool City Hospital with injuries suffered when a piece of slate fell from a mine roof and struck him on the head Friday morning.

Blair Parks of Box 149, Salem, was working at the Brimstone Coal Co. mine on Route 164 about seven miles from Bergholz when the accident occurred.

He suffered a deep laceration of the left forehead.

Parks was taken to the hospital by Earl Laney of Salineville, president of the cooperative mine.

Parks was admitted at 10:55 a.m.

45 Hungarians Seek Asylum

Olympic Athlete: Stay In Australia

MELBOURNE (P)—Forty-five members of the Hungarian Olympic team took asylum in Australia today rather than return to their Russian-occupied homeland.

About 34 intend to go to the United States. The others plan to settle here.

Their 130 teammates headed back toward home. But there were signs at least 20 of these would drop off at Milan, Italy, before their two chartered French airliners go on to Budapest.

Those who stayed behind include some of Hungary's most noted athletes—among them four-minute miler Laszlo Tabori; world champion ladies foil fencer Lidia Tomokly, and the entire water polo team, champion of the just-concluded 1956 Olympics.

The assistant chief of the Hungarian Olympic Committee and several noted coaches and managers also remained here.

Many of the athletes fought in the early days of the rebellion and proudly wore the emblem of the revolt on their breast pockets.

They departed for Australia at the end of October — when it looked to most persons in Budapest as if the rebels had won their demands for an independent government. On Nov. 4 — while the rebels were negotiating for withdrawal of Russian forces from their country — the Red Army struck back without warning to crush the anti-communist revolution.

One team member said most of those going back to Hungary are

Report Arms Smuggled Into Port Said

PORT SAID, Egypt (P)—The British-French command said today it had found thousands of rounds of rockets and ammunition being smuggled into Port Said.

French Lt. Gen. Andre Beaufre said the British-French headquarters protested to the United Nations truce commander.

The munitions smuggling coincided with increasing defiance from Egyptians in Port Said as the British - French garrison dwindled.

British-French authorities stepped up a search for arms and ammunition and banned all fishing boats from entering the Port Said area.

The announcement said an Egyptian felucca carried thousands of rounds of new Czechoslovak-made ammunition and bazooka rockets to the city's western edge. A British - French patrol found the ammunition hidden in fishing baskets.

There was an air of hostility in Port Said more evident than at any time since the British and French occupied the city a month ago.

Friday about 2,500 Egyptian civilians, mostly young men, marched through the streets in a show of mourning for Egypt's war dead. British riot squads stood by but there were no disorders.

The open defiance came as the British-French withdrawal neared a climax. Some 4,350 of the 11,000 Tommies in Egypt have gone, and the exodus is continuing at a fast pace.

The U. N. police force that is taking over the British and French positions in phases still is of only token size.

Middle East Future May Lie In Smoldering Resentment Against Great Britain In Iraq

By WILLIAM L. RYAN AP Foreign News Analyst

BEIRUT, Lebanon (P)—Slowly the Middle East crisis has been moving eastward until the heaviest clouds now hang over Iraq and Syria. The future of the Baghdad Pact and the Middle East itself may lie in the smoldering resentment against Britain in Iraq.

Rigid Iraqi censorship has kept a picture of this resentment from getting to the outside world. But it has exploded several times in violence, and the potential for more violence is great—perhaps great enough to eventually bring about the end of the rule of Iraq by strongman Premier Nuri Said.

Hungarian Rebel Action Is Confirmed

1,500 Are Harassing Soviet Occupation Forces In 1 Sector

BUDAPEST (P)—Definite word was brought today that bands of rebel guerrillas are waging hit-run warfare on Russian troops from mountain hideouts in southern Hungary.

There have been numerous reports of continued fighting around the mining center of Pecs, but until now they were impossible to confirm. Communication with Pecs is cut off.

Today an unimpeachable Hungarian source disclosed that at least 1,500 rebels are harassing the Soviet occupation forces from the Mecsek Mountains, near Pecs and not far from the Yugoslav frontier.

Last Holding Out

But the informant said he believed the Mecsek rebel forces were the last still holding out. This indicated the Russians have succeeded in wiping out some 2,000 college students that had been waging guerrilla raids from the Satoraljajh region, north of Miskolc, until at least 10 days ago.

"It is true that the revolutionaries in Pecs killed the Russian commandant about two weeks ago," the Hungarian informant said. "This is true although our Budapest newspapers and radio were forced to deny it."

"The Russians can't wipe out these freedom fighters because they can't find them."

"They hide in the forests and they are supported by a rebellious local population. Around Pecs, the Russians are getting a taste of

200 Sign Up For Prospective 'YW'

Salem High School girls, helping in the Y.W.C.A. membership drive, held tag day yesterday and will continue today to solicit members.

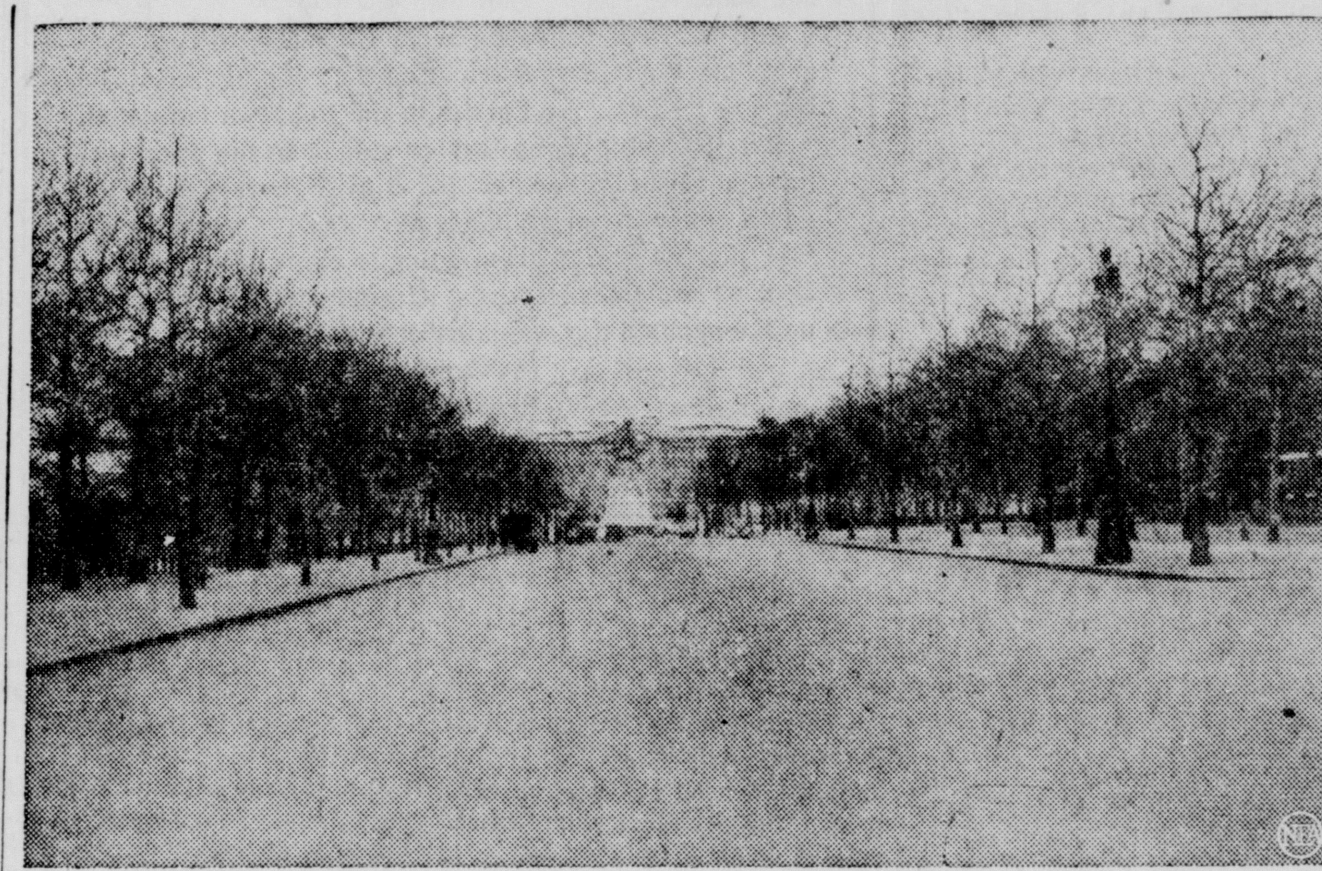

The campaign is progressing rapidly with the 200 mark reached yesterday. A goal of 500 charter members is set.

Twenty-seven adults signed at opening meeting Nov. 29. Within five days the memberships had reached 100. Progress will be tabulated daily in the window at Y.W.C.A. campaign headquarters, 515 E. State St.

Posters placed in business establishments to promote the drive were made by girls in the high school art class. The smaller posters, being used for tag day, were made by girls in Junior High School.

Mrs. Frank Brian is campaign chairman.

NATO Session Opens Tuesday Crisis In Hungary Strengthens Union

PARIS (P)—Ministers of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization — pushed into a renewed spirit of cooperation by events in Hungary — next week open what may be their most dynamic meeting.

The session begins Tuesday, bringing together the ministers of foreign affairs, defense and finance of the 15 nations. It will provide the setting for the first meeting of British, French and American foreign ministers since the Suez campaign which threatened to split the organization wide open.

But the three members, once so widely divided with France and Britain on one side and America on the other, have begun the healing process so actively that one highly placed figure in the organization predicted: "It will be the love match of the year. The lovers are going to confess their faults, kiss and make up probably, more warmly than ever before."

For the past two years NATO has shown signs of pulling apart at the seams. Many members, calmed by the smiles of the Kremlin, wanted to cut their defense expenditures. Russian cannons and tanks in Budapest changed all that.

"Members who were reluctant before are now remembering how man said the Communists are extremely weak in Iraq.

But the current situation in Iraq makes it easy for relatively few agitators from outside to do their work. There is a vast storm of hatred welling up among the literate Iraqi public against the very words "Baghdad Pact."

Inflamed with the idea of solidarity with their brothers Arabs, the Iraqis associate the Baghdad Pact with Britain and thus with the attack on Egypt. Pact members are Iraq, Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Britain.

The efficient Iraqi police force has been keeping demonstrations to a minimum. In Baghdad, it works with the army to move swiftly and nip demonstrations in the bud. But storm clouds are there and threaten to burst in full fury—if not tomorrow, then next week or next month.

But even the leaders of high level political opposition to Nuri want him to hang on for the present.

In the first place, they consider him responsible for the current situation and they have no desire to inherit the storm.

In the second place, the opposition itself is divided. Nuri, an astute politician, has seen to that in the past two years.

Since 1954 there have been no political parties in Iraq. Nuri abolished them. Of 141 members in the Chamber of Deputies 130 were unopposed in the election. The Senate is appointed by the King.

Legion Band Invited To Inauguration

Salem's Ohio championship American Legion Quaker City band has been invited to lead the Ohio unit during the inauguration parade in Washington, D.C., Jan. 21.

If the band is able to make the trip to the capital, the musicians will lead the Ohio section for the parade that will follow President Eisenhower's official inauguration ceremonies.

The invitation to the Salem band was extended yesterday by the National Republican Committee and was announced jointly by Mrs. Letha Astry, 18th district GOP committeewoman, and Atty. W. J. Hunston.

A group of civic leaders will meet Wednesday noon at the Lape Hotel to discuss plans for financing the band's trip to Washington.

The Quaker City Band, twice Ohio Legion champions and runners-up nationally, is directed by Chester M. Brautigam.

Hungarian Relief Drive Progressing

The Lisbon Council of Church Women has sent 18 boxes of used clothing and the Zion Hill Evangelical and Reformed Church near Columbiana has sent 500 pounds of used clothing in the Hungarian emergency relief drive of Salem and area churches.

The regional collection depot of the Church World Service is at the Presbyterian Westminster House here.

Rev. A. Laten Carter, Presbyterian Church pastor, said other contributions have been received from St. Jacob's Evangelical and Reformed Church and from East Palestine churches.

Especially needed are woolen items of all kinds, men's socks, men's and children's underwear and layettes. If possible clothing gifts should be accompanied by eight cents per pound to cover processing and shipping charges.

Mrs. Ralph Walton of the Chestnut Grove Rd. is the chairman in charge of the clothing collection center for this area.

Nabs Suspect With $1,070 Clothing Loot

Two Accomplices Escape; Fitzpatrick, Holloways Robbed

COLUMBIANA — Police Friday night foiled a robbery of two men's clothing stores when they nabbed one of three men involved in the theft as he was getting into his car loaded with 28 suits and six topcoats valued at $1,070.

The clothing had been taken a few minutes before from Fitzpatrick's Men's furnishing store at 35 S. Main St. and the Holloway and Son dry goods store at 101 S. Main St.

William McGuckin, chief of police, said the theft occurred at 7:30 p.m., just at the height of the Friday night shopping period. Gives Youngstown Address

The apprehended suspect, identified as Samuel Dumas, 55, who gave his address as the Savoy Hotel in Youngstown, was nabbed as he was getting into his car by Patrolman Lyle Perkins. The car had been parked on S. Main St. near Fitzpatrick's store.

Patrolman Perkins had been suspicious of the three men and had been following them.

Holloway officials said the thieves attempted the robbery in their store by hiding between a table piled high with trousers and the suit racks. They said the thieves stole under their top coats, went out the front door, and loaded them in the back seat of their car.

Store officials said they thought they noticed two strangers in the store in the afternoon but weren't sure whether they were the same men.

Fitzpatrick's, where the men got all but two suits of their stolen property, said the thieves doubled the suits on hangers, hid them again under the top coats and sneaked out the front door. Clerks said it was impossible to detect them that easily because the store was so crowded with customers.

It is believed that since the car was parked near Fitzpatrick's the thieves had robbed Holloway's first. The stores are directly across the street from each other on S. Main St.

Police Chief McGuckin stated that had another patrolman been assigned to duty at the time, they could have caught the two accomplices who escaped on foot. The other two men are believed to have seen Patrolman Perkins with Dumas and then fled.

Dumas was scheduled to appear in a hearing before Mayor E. L. Calvin this afternoon on a charge of attempted robbery.

E. Liverpool Police Trial To Open Monday

LISBON — The Common Pleas Court trial of Jerry Raymond, 33, former East Liverpool merchant policeman, will start Monday at 9:30 a.m., according to Norman Ward, assignment commissioner.

Raymond pleaded not guilty to charges of receiving and concealing stolen property after he was indicted by the recalled September Grand Jury.

The property included over $800 worth of photographic equipment stolen from the Burbick Hardware Store in East Liverpool in March of 1952.

Judge Frank Cope of Carroll County Common Pleas Court will preside. Jurors will be picked from the venire of 50 persons summoned to report for jury duty.

Bible Words for Today

ST. LUKE 4:16, HEBREWS 10:25 — "And, as his custom was, he went into the synagogue on the sabbath day." "Not forsaking the assembling of ourselves together, as the manner of some is." (King James Version)

When Roger W. Babson made his statistical study of church attendance more than twenty years ago, he found that on a nationwide basis on an average Sunday in an average church about one-third of its members would be present. A similar survey made in 1955 indicated some improvement, one-half of the church members of the country attending church on an average Sunday.

The habit of "absence from the house of God" began less than fifty years after the time of Christ, as the clause from the Epistle to the Hebrews indicates.

But the habit of the Master stands as the perpetual rebuke of the absentees; for if ever there walked the earth one who might justly have said, "I can worship God just as well without going to church," it was He. But, as St. Luke records it, going to the synagogue on the sabbath day was a habit with Jesus.

Santa and the SECRET ROOM

by LUCRECE HUDGINS BEALE

Synopsis: The captain ordered Calhoun McGillicuddy to take the princess and me to the king. Instead he took us to Santa Land for he was not a soldier but a messenger from Santa Claus who came to fulfill our wish to go to Santa Land.

CHAPTER FIVE

The princess and I peered down at the beautiful sight below. "Santa Land!" cried Princess Anne joyfully. "Just think — our wish really came true!"

I forgot the awful fright we'd had with the soldiers and I boasted. "I told you there were lots of ways to get to Santa Land. You just have to keep trying until you get the right one."

"Hold on, now," said McGillicuddy. "We're landing."

Down, down, down dropped the flying horse. He circled three times and came to a halt. There we were before a small white house and on the door was plainly written: "Santa Claus."

The princess and I slid to the ground and raced up the steps to bang on the shutter.

"Who's there?" boomed a voice. "Tis I," said the horseman behind us, "Calhoun McGillicuddy."

THE DOOR OPENED and there was Santa himself all round and smiling and rosy and warm. I thought he was the grandest looking thing in the whole world and it made me feel good and safe and beaming inside just to be there by his side.

"Well, children," he said as he led us to the fire. "It's a good thing I took an early snooze this evening or I might not have gotten your message."

"What message?" I asked.

"Why, your wish to come to Santa Land," Santa pointed to a roly poly pillow on the sofa nearby. "That's my Wishing Pillow. When anyone makes a wish while I'm snoozing on my Wishing Pillow the wish pops right into my head. When I wake up I try to make the wish come true."

Santa puffed his pipe and listened carefully

"Oh, my," breathed the princess. "Then you sent that soldier to save us?"

"I'm not a soldier!" interrupted Calhoun McGillicuddy. "I'm Santa's Wishing Elf." He threw off his white cloak and sure enough he was an elf and not a man.

"Dear me," said Santa suddenly. "I forgot what a long cold ride you've had." He went to the door and called to his wife. "Could we have a light snack? Say some gingerbread and chocolate cake and lemon pie. And perhaps some apple tarts and peppermint milk shakes, too."

Well, in just two seconds, in came Mrs. Claus with a tray big as a house and on it everything

Santa had asked for and a bucket of coconut cookies, too.

We ate it all — even the crumbs. Then Santa said, "Now tell me, children, why you wished so hard to come to Santa Land. It's only a few days to Christmas and I would have visited you soon."

"OH, SANTA," cried the princess. "I'm afraid there may not be a Christmas in my kingdom now or ever again."

Then she told Santa about her father and how he had always been a wonderful king until thirty days ago. Now he spent his days in a secret room and whoever went in that room with him never came out again. And just today he had ordered the princess into the room and that is why she had run away.

Santa puffed his pipe and listened carefully to the princess' story. When she finished he sat there nodding his head for a long time and gazing into the fire.

Finally he said, "There's only one way to find out what's in that room."

We looked at him and we waited and we didn't dare speak or hardly breathe at all.

And then he said, "We'll have to go in there and see for ourselves."

Confident Living

How To Manage Yourself

Last summer, when I was in Europe, I attended a Rotary Club meeting there. As a member of Rotary I try to be faithful to my obligation of attendance wherever I may be.

Peale

and Swiss. Fortunately, the men at my table all spoke enough English so that we could understand one another.

One of the men with us was a doctor, and I gathered that he was one of the most important medical men of that region. I was very impressed by his conversation and enjoyed talking with him.

"Doctor," I said, "back in the United States where I live, we have a lot of high blood pressure and tension and heart trouble and nervous breakdowns and other psychosomatic disorders. Do you have much of that trouble here?"

AT FIRST HE SEEMED puzzled by what I was trying to say, but finally a look of understanding came to his face. "Oh," he answered, "you mean the manager's disease."

"What do you mean," I asked, "by the manager's disease?"

"Anybody who has managerial responsibility seems to develop high blood pressure, nervous tension of heart disease," he told me. "I like that interesting phrase, 'manager's disease,'" I said. "But everyone isn't an executive or a manager."

"Yes, they are," he responded. "Everyone is an executive. Everybody has to manage himself. When they can't, they get sick with anxiety and tension and frustration. That's what we call the manager's disease."

"How do you cure it?" was my next question.

FIRST, HE TOLD ME ABOUT the latest developments in drugs and medicines. Then this physician, who didn't know anything about me or my profession except that I was a visiting American, said something which impressed me. He looked around challengingly as if he were to make a very radical statement. "Do you know what the people of Europe need — and from what I've heard of the United States, your people need it as well. I know it's what I need." He pointed a long finger at all of us around that table. "And it's what all you men need." The finger stopped at me. "It's what you need too. Just this one thing — people need more religion."

He went on to explain: "And I don't mean religion that is just formal and cold and lifeless. What I mean is expressed in one word — God."

WE NEED GOD. He gave us energy in the first place. He renews it constantly. If people could get the consciousness of God into their lives, they'd have the energy and strength they need to properly manage themselves. And how right that European doctor is.

God is more than just an abstract philosophical concept. He is our life blood — medicine for our bodies, our minds, our souls. Tolstoi expressed it best — "To know God is to live."

So we can learn to manage ourselves — and how to avoid "the manager's disease" — when we become aware of the health that comes from having God in charge of our lives.

WHEN I GROW UP . . .

Magical words these, "when I grow up"—full of promise, replete with confidence. What youngster hasn't uttered them?

This lad is no different. He looks into the future that will be his when he grows up, and the world is his oyster, intact with pearls.

This month he wants to be a flier. Next month he'll want to be an engineer, spanning bridges across great rivers and wide chasms. The month after that he'll see himself as a surgeon, scalpel poised between skilled fingers. And the month after that—who knows?

For youth is ever changing, ever restless. That's why it is so important that youth's naturally impulsive nature be held fast by an anchor that is good, firm and permanent. They need a faith that will sustain them whether they become doctors, fliers, or engineers. The Church provides this faith, this anchor.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Day Of Infamy'

The 5th Pearl Harbor anniversary proved that Dec. 7 "will live long in infamy," just as Franklin D. Roosevelt said it should.

But the infamy belongs to the United States, not Japan. This year, as before, Dec. 7 was an excuse to brush up on the most incredible blunder of the 20th century.

Each passing year has made it plainer that the Japanese, themselves, underestimated U.S. carelessness and stupidity in the face of a known and imminent danger. They could not believe their own luck at Pearl Harbor.

When the U.S. commander in the Mediterranean warned recently against another Pearl Harbor, he was not referring to possible attack but to possible stupidity and carelessness.

There should be more attention given to the anniversary of Pearl Harbor. Every military commander, including the commander in chief, should review each Dec. 7 every detail of the blunder that "will live in infamy" as long as Americans mourn the men who were killed needlessly at the outset of a war the United States almost lost by default in the first hour.

All On The Record

How much longer can the Khrushchev-Bulgarian balancing act withstand the explosion in Hungary?

Last February, Nikita Khrushchev cut the great god Stalin down to pygmy size with a speech before the Communist party's 20th Congress in Moscow.

The doctrine that the state was infallible was ditched.

Everything said about the Russian dictator by his worst enemies seemed insignificant after Khrushchev laid out the incredible record of murders and blunders.

Nothing ever could be the same in the Soviet Union after that. No man ever could set himself up again as infallible.

Henceforth, everything would be on the record. When even the record of Stalin's errors could be kept in detail, despite his purges and terrorism, it was certain the records of his successors would be compiled in even closer detail.

The Khrushchev-Bulgarian regime has blundered in Hungary. It may have blundered in the Middle East, too, if the net effect of intervention there is to stiffen anti-Russian resentment.

The great illusion of the 20th century has been the Soviet Union's claim that it always knows what it is doing; that its opponents are on the defensive.

When the blunders of the Khrushchev-Bulgarian axis in Hungary are revealed, befuddled Communists will have something to talk about besides the blunders of Stalin. It will be plain that Russian blundering did not stop last February when the great god Stalin was pulled off his pedestal. The Soviet Union is on the defensive now.

Stevenson's Dilemma

Adlai Stevenson's announcement that he is through running for president and will practice law, raising his voice for the Democratic party whenever he can be of help, points up his political dilemma.

Which part of his party will he raise his voice in behalf of—the Supreme-Court-defying part in the irreconcilable South, or the civil-rights-promoting part in the progressive North?

Will he speak for the part that wants to take all cues from Walter Reuther and the union bosses, or will he speak for the party that wants all cues to come from Sen. Byrd of Virginia?

Will he speak for the Democrats who liked him best when he ran in 1952, or for the Democrats who dictated his political personality when he ran in 1956?

Mr. Stevenson's dilemma used to be Thomas E. Dewey's dilemma. It has been the dilemma of every defeated presidential candidate. How can one man speak with two voices?

Momentous Trifles

What were the ten high spots of your year? In this season when it is customary to list events in numerical importance, there is no law against personal selections.

They reveal more about the really important things of life than professional appraisers of what is momentous would want to admit. The fact is, life is composed of momentous trifles.

Such as the Saturday night stage transformer was hit by lightning and the electricity was off for nine hours, the bumper strawberry crop in a year when the crop generally was below par, the Irish setter's litter of 14 pups without a runt in the lot, the rehabilitation of Sal Maglie that made every male over 40 feel good again, the genuine pleasure of rebuking a particular kind of politicking with a few pencil marks last Nov. 6. . . .

That's five for a start. The next five would be just as trifling and just as momentous. Yours would be too.

Religion In And On The Job

'Straight-Laced'

By EUGENE CARR

Two men stood at the airport gate waiting for the attendant to announce the plane which would take them home from a business trip.

They were discussing some personnel changes recently made in their company operations. One of the men — a fairly young man — was probing for the opinion of the other, who, obviously, was in a position of some authority in the company.

"By the way," the young man said, "what do you think of Fred as office manager? He seems a bit too strait-laced to me, but I guess you can't hold that against him."

The airport attendant dropped the gate chain and the passengers boarded the plane.

What did the young man have in mind? What was the purpose of his comment about Fred, the new office manager? What was the intent of this double-edged remark about a fellow employee?

If the young man was not resentful of Fred's promotion, why didn't he wish him well? If he had no fear that Fred might rise faster in the company than he, himself, why didn't he comment favorably on his fitness for the job? If he felt the appointment was a good one, why didn't he say so? If he felt otherwise, why didn't he say so, or else say nothing at all?

Apparently, the young man had come to an early conviction in his business career that being strait-laced is not exactly a good quality. Or, if it does bob up some where along the line, it can be tolerated to a degree. Or, perhaps it's all right in certain types of jobs, such as office manager, but wouldn't do beyond that point.

It is hoped the older man catalogued the remarks of his younger associate for exactly what they seemed at the time to be. As an experienced executive, he would make note of several things: the young man's indecision in estimating the worth of his fellow employee; his planting of the seed of doubt as to that employee's fitness; his questioning of the wisdom of a company decision; his lack of integrity as evidenced by an indifference toward the value of integrity.

Perhaps the older man thought nothing more about this incident, or labeled it as youthful floundering in the sea of job competition. But it is also hoped he took the time to explain to the young man how promotions are actually won, how better jobs are really earned, and that there is nothing wrong with an office manager, or anyone else for that matter, being strait-laced.

Good Old Science!

By TRUMAN TWILL

A sea captain's comment that bad-weather clothing designed for World War II marks the first time men have figured out how to keep warm brings a solemn Amen from this corner.

All of us who shook and shivered through childhood and remember with a hangover of horror the stuff we used to wear during the cold months can testify this is one thing that's being done better and better.

With full respect for hand-wringing old ladies who think modern moppets are freezing to death because they are not encased in heavy undergarments reaching to their extremities, the moppets are better protected than moppets ever were protected before.

As a refresher course for those who did not experience with rigors of winter before science improved bad-weather clothing, these were standard items:

High-top shoes laced with rawhide and bottomed with extra thick leather to slow down soakage, because there were no practicable overshoes. Further to protect the wearer, the shoes were saturated after purchase with repeated dosages of neatfoot oil, a smelly mess distilled from contented neats. The shoes were dried out nightly on registers, radiators and even in the oven, causing them to curl up at the toes and get out of shape, with the result that many a wearer's feet were permanently deformed.

The aforesaid heavy underwear, which was a pure pleasure to put on for the first few times but which thereafter began to ossify in repeated launderings. By Groundhog Day it had to be beaten with a stick to make it limber enough to put on after the Saturday night bath, which sometimes was a weekly event but could be switched to a fortnightly basis in the event of extreme cold — and often was.

Long stockings reaching upward to the middle thigh and the attendant bulges that came therein from underwear grown baggy at the knees and floppy at the ankles. The stockings started out to be black or brown but became green or brindle after two washings, due to the fact the pesky Germans had a monopoly on know-how in the dye industry.

Sweaters proclaimed to be all wool and certified by the fact the wool contained enough extraneous matter to make it a hair shirt if worn next to the skin, repulsive if worn close to the nose.

Mittens which either were porous enough to permit easy access to everything mittens should bar or were so inflexible they could have been substituted for armor plate in a museum exhibit.

Stocking caps that absorbed enough natural body oils, grime, loose hair, grease and grit to be semi-rain-proof as well as semi-cold-proof by spring. But they could not be compared even then with the wide choice of weather-resistant headgear available now for winter warmth. Nor for that matter could anything else which used to be inflicted on human beings in cold weather.

It took World War II to clinch the proposition that clothing could be made to conserve warmth without destroying both dignity and sanitation.

Educational Advance

According to the President's Committee on Education Beyond High School, enrollment in the nation's colleges is expected to double within the next 15 years. The chief reason: the booming birth rate of the past two decades.

Obviously the schools aren't equipped today to handle such a load. They will have to expand mightily, and new schools will have to be added, if the problem is to be met.

Even now, for a variety of reasons, we are not turning out enough engineers and scientists to fill our needs. It can be well imagined under what handicaps this country would work if in 15 years we do not have the facilities and the teachers to produce the far greater number of specialists that will then be required.

Anyone can guess the big stumbling block. It is money. So huge are the requirements involved in doubling the capacity of our colleges that only two main sources of revenue seem practical — government and the business world.

How the responsibility is to be divided between government and business, and between the various levels of government, is a matter that should be speedily determined. Clearly the responsibility cannot be escaped if we are to prepare this nation for its future.

Looking One In and Locking One Out!

Does TV Deliver?

By RAYMOND MOLEY

There is a great deal of sober thinking these days in the national committees of both parties concerning the returns which they received from the money they spent on television in the recent campaign.

It would be unfair to suggest that in the case of the Democrats Paul Butler bought at a great price the most terrific defeat in recent times. Also, that Leonard Hall wasted Republican money on a sure thing.

That sort of hindsight might be applied to all of the efforts and expenditures in a political campaign.

But important people in both parties are now convinced that a disproportionate amount of money was spent on television.

I kept a fairly close watch on the broadcasts and it seemed to me that, over all, the money spent on television by the parties was excessive and considering the probable value of even a small part thereof in precinct work, was a bad mistake in judgment.

THIS RAISES the question of expenditures in television in certain businesses, notably in the automobile field.

There have been bitter complaints by automobile dealers concerning the levies on them for the advertising money spent by the companies. The result of this has been a decision by General Motors that the dealers will no longer be required to contribute to its advertising program.

Attorney General Brownell, who has been studying this matter with a view to instituting legal proceedings under the anti-trust laws, has expressed satisfaction at the decision of G. M. to discontinue.

It is believed in the industry, however, that the assumption of full responsibility by the corporation may result in a rise in prices of "at least $3 in the list prices of G. M. cars."

This raises the whole question of the great increase in advertising expenditures, mainly due to the increased use of television. In an article in "Editor and Publisher" some figures are presented by Jack Kent, who is frankly criticizing the relative cost of television advertising from the standpoint of a newspaper representative.

IN PAST YEARS we have all recognized that the additional cost of a car in the low price field was a small amount compared with the great increase in production due to a wider market and a resulting drop in the price. As I remember, it used to be said that the amount was about $6 per car.

But as Mr. Kent points out with supporting figures, the increase in advertising costs since the coming of TV has been running far beyond the increase in the number of cars sold.

In 1950 the cost of advertising per Chevrolet was $6.12 per car. Ford was $8.07 per car, and Plymouth $7.89 per car. In 1955 the cost per Chevrolet was $19.57. Ford was $18.65, and Plymouth $21.33. That meant an increase in advertising cost per car of 220 per cent for Chevrolets, 131 per cent for Fords, and 170 per cent for Plymouths.

AVERAGING THESE three, the increase was 170 per cent.

So They Say

Too many Negroes are coming north with no education and no skill or trade. They come . . . to big industrial cities with high hopes only to learn that there's little demand for unskilled labor. — Dr. Lawrence Jones, noted Negro educator.

But it appears in Mr. Kent's figures that only 727,425 more Chevrolets, Fords, and Plymouths were sold in 1955 than in 1950, but the cost of advertising them jumped $52,827,019.

That means that for every additional car sold and for holding the old market, there was spent in advertising $72.62.

This certainly gets away from the old argument that high-priced advertising is economical because it sells so many more cars and thus provides the benefit of lower prices through mass production.

Auto Parking With Oomph

By DAVID BARNETT

Time was when parking lot owners operated on the Marilyn Monroe theory:

If you have lots in the right places, you don't have to worry about competition.

But motorized living has become more complicated — as anybody knows who drives downtown to do Christmas shopping — and the parking industry is growing up. So say two men who should know: Harry W. Shepard, Jr., president, and William G. Barr, executive director, National Parking Association.

Mr. Barr recently returned from a nationwide tour to find out what lot and garage operators were doing for the harassed car owner. These are some of the things he outlined in a joint interview.

In Sioux City, you can drive into a garage with your children and leave the youngsters there while you shop. The garage has a registered nurse on duty to baby-sit.

In Wheeling, a parking lot doesn't provide baby-sitters but it does the next best thing. A mother who drives in with a baby can borrow a baby stroller while she does her shopping.

In Louisville, lot and garage operators provide umbrellas for motorists who park on rainy days. The umbrellas are returned when the patron comes back for his car.

To generate some warmth for his establishment, a carpark operator in St. Louis has a "warm-up" service. The lot is near a theater. On cold nights, cinema-goers step from the movie into vehicles that have been started, warmed-up, and heated in advance by the lot attendants.

A comparable summertime service is provided by a parking lot in Newark, N.Y., a portable air conditioner shoots a blast of frigid air into the car just before the driver picks it up.

Many parking establishments have set up plush waiting rooms with lounge chairs and soothing music.

To cut down the waiting time, the parking men predict a big increase in large, self-parking garages in the heart of downtown areas. Self-parking garages — one of the best is already in operation in Salt Lake City — permits the driver to lock his car, deposit packages in them, and drive off when he wishes without waiting for an attendant to bring the car out of the garage.

"It also," Mr. Shepard noted, "cuts down the operating cost. Labor costs are really shooting up these days."

As the pay for attendants goes up, the operators are demanding more from their employees. Mr. Barr pointed out that the first "school" for parking attendants has been established in Atlanta. The students get intensive training in safety, accounting, legal responsibilities, car handling and courtesy as part of the Georgia State College adult education program.

Some garages, they noted, are using automatic coin collection devices and mechanical parkers.

Office Building Boom

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP) — The office building boom — brushing aside the question "how can they ever fill all that space?" — is taking a fresh spurt.

In New York chiefly—but also in many other cities across the land—new skyscrapers are rising today and plans for still bigger ones are being announced.

And they are being filled as fast as built. The older buildings—some of them being modernized and air conditioned—are mostly filled, too. Vacancy rated in New York are put at 1.25 per cent.

The nation's chair-borne population grows steady. And there is a continuous trek to New York by giant and medium sized corporations, setting up either headquarters or branch offices on Manhattan to be near their suppliers or customers or bankers.

Counting in buildings being finished this year, the National Assn. of Building Owners and Managers estimates the nation's total office space at 440 million square feet. And 60 million square feet of that has gone up since the end of World War II.

New York's building spree has added 36 million square feet of office space in the 11 years since the war, the Real Estate Board of New York estimates. Some 110 new structures have room for 290,000 workers. Announced plans for still more tall buildings will bring the total to about 40 million square feet.

This outpaces the other big office building boom, in the 23 years between the two world wars, when 32 million square feet—including the huge Rockefeller Center development—were added to the city's office working space.

Latest skyscraper projects to be announced here include a 60-story building with 1,700,000 square feet of office space, adjoining Rockefeller Center. Two other huge structures in the same neighborhood are in the talking stage. A 46-story building with one million square feet of office room, to be known as Astor Plaza, will occupy a square block between Park Avenue and Lexington.

Down Lexington a few blocks the 45-story Sovcon Mobil building has just opened with 1,600,000 square feet of office room for its tenants.

Where do all these tenants come from?

Some are newcomers to New York, yielding to the trend among corporate executives to huddle together. Nearly a third of the 500 biggest industrial corporations in the United States have their headquarters here. Most of the others have branch offices here—some of them rivaling their home headquarters in size. This brings them near 11 of the biggest commercial banks and 10 of the largest transportation companies.

Other tenants of the new buildings are old time New Yorkers that have outgrown their previous quarters.

And some of the new tenants are recent comers to the business scene.

Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

Words To A Hire Tower

You are under your closest scrutiny now, Skyscraper of the United Nations, Beacon of Hope, Tower of Babel. Now is the hour of your toughest test.

Glistening against the blue sky, you are constructed of hope and aspiration. Your girders were forged through centuries of bloodshed; your beams through ages of suffering and sorrow.

In your stones are the tears of mothers; in your mortar are the prayers of millions. You are a house founded upon the rock of high purpose.

ALL IS NOT WELL with you. Bravery and honor walk side by side with timidity and double-talk. . . . the straight shooter sits with the conniver. . . . integrity is elbowed by hypocrisy. . . . The footsteps of the bold and unswerving echo among those of the cowardly, the crafty, the conspirator, the trimmer and the fixer. Here jabberwocky too often is heard above the forthright word. The "big lie" makes too much progress and the halls are at times a Fact Twister's paradise.

You seem so many times a complete combination of a fight club, a temple, a prayer room, and a bivouac. There is in you alternately the mood of Bethlehem and Golgotha. . . . the waving palms give way to frequently to the spectre of the cross. In many speeches is heard the rattle of dice in casting for His garments.

BUT HOPE STILL RIDES. Weary, perplexed and alarmed millions still trust you. In the faces of mothers and fathers all over the earth is reflected hope even in the long, exasperating days and nights of vilifications, hypocritical attitudes, abstentions and the monotonous drone of voices harsh and pitiless.

Your thousands of windows, catching the sun, flash a message of promise. . . . By night the reflection of the stars projects the message of a starry night in Bethlehem hills. . . . The truly patient hear, "Fear not, for I bring you good tidings."

Shadows of stony-faced men who leer at peace-makers, disrupt moves for amity and make a mockery of every concept of the United Nations are visible also at these windows. . . . There are voices that make a dirty word of "liberty" and convert "freedom" into an epithet. But happily their vilifications have begun to pay off merely in yawns.

You've been a disappointment, Skyscraper. You've seemed a place of futility, hatreds, hostilities and monkey wrenches. But you're still the Greatest Beacon on Earth. And even the skeptics had better join in the chorus of "I believe."

WE SAW A COUPLE OF MEN locked in a clinch after a tough fight in a night club. . . . To a cop's "What are you two guys doing?" the answer came, "We are making a phased withdrawal."

"Protective Custody," a new Broadway thriller caught by us on the road, is a brainwashing drama from a new viewpoint, the brainwashing of a woman instead of a man. Faye Emerson does a swell job in it.

No more courageous, candid and forceful a speech has ever been made in U.N. than that of Minister Cosgrave of Ireland last week. . . . His picture of the world situation, his blunt exhortation of the Soviet and his logical outline of steps necessary for world peace constituted a classic worthy of textbooks.

We don't recall ever finding so many sports experts so far wrong as they were in forecasting the outcome of the recent Patterson-Moore heavyweight championship bout. . . . It always seemed to us that Patterson, a kid of 21, with all the equipment of a great ringman should have been 10 to 1 to lick Moore, a man twice his age, slow, and inevitably on the down grade.

Who ever dreamt there would be a heavy "Floyd" and "Archie"? We think Patterson will be a champ as sensational as Joe Louis at that he will never know a fight easier to win than the one against Moore.

News of Rural Meetings, Happenings

Corn Referendum Dec. 11

The two issues which farmers will consider in a national corn referendum Dec. 11 are:

A Soil Bank corn base program with price supports of $1.31 a bushel, (or 74 per cent of parity) and a national corn allotment of 51 million acres.

An allotment program with price supports of $1.36 a bushel, (or 77 per cent of parity), and a national allotment of 37.3 million acres.

If farmers fail to pass by a 2-3 vote nationally the corn base program they'll automatically get the allotment program, explains Wallace Barr, Ohio State University extension economist.

Farmers eligible to vote include those in Ohio's 1957 commercial corn producing counties who produced corn this year. Seventy-one of Ohio's counties are in the commercial corn producing area, including Columbiana and Mahoning.

A favorable vote for the corn base program, Barr explains, would mean farmers must participate in the acreage reserve or the conservation reserve of the Soil Bank to receive the $1.31 price support. They would have to place acreage equal to 15 per cent or more of their corn base in the acreage reserve or the conservation reserve phase of the Soil Bank.

If farmers place their designated acres in the corn acreage reserve, Barr says, they would need to reduce their acreage of corn 15 per cent or more. If they place the land in conservation reserve, they could grow corn on the entire corn base, but land equal to 15 per cent or more of their corn base would have to be placed in conservation reserve. This could be land taken out of other feed grain production, such as wheat, oats, barley or soybeans.

With either the corn base or the allotment plan in effect, Barr says, in calculating payments for corn acreage reserve, the price per bushel will remain at 90 cents on designated acres. The return per acre, under the corn acreage reserve program, is computed by multiplying the normal yield for the farm by 90 cents a bushel.

For land placed in conservation reserve, farmers could receive two kinds of payments — an annual rental, averaging $12 an acre in Ohio, and a cost-sharing payment for conservation practices established.

Ceramic Award Conferred On F. C. Flint of Wheeling

Francis C. Flint, technical director of the Hazel-Atlas Glass Co., plant at Wheeling, was named Friday night to receive the 10th annual Albert Victor Bleining Award for distinguished achievement in the field of ceramics.

His selection was announced at a meeting of the American Ceramic Society, which has conferred the award since 1948 in memory of the late Dr. A. V. Bleining, who was research director of the Homer Laughlin China Co. Announcement of the 66-year-old Wheeling man's selection was made at "split" sessions of the ceramic society last night in Ford City and New Castle, Pa.

Presentation of the gold medal and scroll that symbolize the award will be made at a dinner March 15 in Pittsburgh.

Author of numerous technical papers, Flint also holds several patents on glass production equipment and processes. He has been with the Wheeling firm since 1919, holding the same post for 37 years.

Flint joined the American Ceramic Society in 1919, serving as president in 1935 and president in 1936. He is a fellow of the ACS and an honorary fellow of the Society of Glass Technology, which he served as treasurer from 1929 to 1952. He is also a member of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers and the American Chemical Society.

The Bleining Award was conferred by a committee headed by Dr. C. L. Thompson of the Harbison-Walker Refractories Co. at Pittsburgh. The only district member was Don Schreckengost, ceramic art director of the Homer Laughlin China Co., who was the original designer and sculptor of the award medal.

The award last year went to Arthur S. Watts of Columbus, professor emeritus of ceramic engineering at Ohio State University.

Officers elected were: most excellent chief, Arlene Kornbau; most excellent senior, Wanda Dickson; most excellent junior, Mildred Davis; manager, Martha Stouffer; secretary, Fern Riddle; treasurer, Ethel Bricker; protector, Mary Herron; guard, Janet Mathey; installing officer, Elata Grim; pianist, Ethel Jackson; captain of degree staff, Loretta Spear.

Mrs. Wilma Smith won the "good of the order" gift.

An auditing committee was appointed to audit the books for the past six months.

Installation of officers will be held Jan. 15 with a coverdish supper at 6 p.m.

Gifts will be sent to shutin members of the order for Christmas.

Following the business session lunch was served and the birthdays of Ethel Bricker, Elva Culler, Agnes McCowin, Laura Molle, Edith Linn, Eleanor Savage, Esther Stouffer and Alice Weikart were honored. The temple will meet again Jan. 15.

GOP Spent 2 Million In Ohio Election

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Ohio Republicans spent nearly two million dollars to finance the November election campaign, they reported to the secretary of state Thursday.

The Ohio Republican Finance Committee, which made the report, serves as a central agency that pools contributions and distributes them for local, state and national campaign use.

Ohio Democrats do not operate a pool system that would provide a comparative figure.

The GOP finance committee listed expenditures of $1,920,176. Its receipts were $1,936,328, and it reported pledges of $31,145.

The committee statement showed a balance of $16,150.

In 1952, the committee listed expenditures of $2,021,389, uncollected pledges of $43,795 and receipts of $2,031,494.

In all, the report showed, the committee spent about $100,000 less this year than in 1952.

The Democratic State Central and Executive Committees listed expenditures of $86,120 and receipts of $38,303. The distributions included $25,585 for operation of state headquarters in Columbus.

Others reporting to the secretary of state before Thursday's 4 p.m. deadline included:

Michael V. DiSalle of Toledo, unsuccessful Democratic candidate for governor, who reported no contributions and personal expenditures of $2,500 in the campaign. His committees filed separate reports. The DiSalle for Governor Committee received and spent $71,520.

Atty. Gen. C. William O'Neill, who ran on the Republican ticket to defeat DiSalle in the gubernatorial race, reported no personal expenditures or receipts.

The O'Neill for Governor Campaign Committee said it spent $104,719 of receipts totaling $106,497. The $1,688 balance will be applied toward unpaid bills totaling $25,736, the committee said.

Republican Secretary of State Ted W. Brown, who won re-election, listed personal receipts and expenditures of $1,597. His committee said it received and spent $14,966.

Paul M. Herbert's committee took in $4,983 and spent $4,900 on his successful campaign for election as lieutenant governor on the GOP ticket.

The Ohio CIO Council reported receipts and expenditures of $26,470 on the campaign.

The Ohio CIO Committee on Political Education said it received $16,403 which it coupled with a balance of $6,985 from last Jan. 1 for a total of $23,388. It listed expenditures of $19,682. That left a balance of $3,706 which the committee said it will use "for political education in the future."

Republican Willard Campbell, unsuccessful candidate for chief justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, reported no contributions and expenses of $2,240. His committee said it received and spent $2,905.

Mrs. Flick Elected By Dorcas Group

New officers were elected when the Dorcas Society of the Holy Trinity English Lutheran Church held its December meeting Thursday in the church.

The newly-elected officers are: president, Mrs. Otis Flick; vice president, Mrs. Herbert Platt; secretary, Mrs. Perry Hilliard Sr.; treasurer, Mrs. Arthur Schropp; financial secretary, Mrs. Oscar Bittner.

The nominating committee was comprised of Mrs. Harry Woodworth, Mrs. William Rance and Mrs. Ada Neiderhiser.

Plans were completed to send a Christmas box to a mountain school in Konorock, Va. Mrs. Lester Lehman, chairman, will be assisted by Mrs. John Bailey and Mrs. Charles Becknell.

Cards were sent to the following members who were reported ill: Mrs. Merle Bingham, Mrs. Wesley McKenzie, Mrs. Ida Wyss, Mrs. Walter Smith and Mrs. Leo Myers.

Mrs. Herbert Platt was in charge of the program. The Christmas story from Luke 2:1-20 was read by Mrs. Charles Youtz; Mrs. Celia Greenstein read "Thoughts for the Day"; and Mrs. Platt gave a reading, "Let's Keep Christmas," by Peter Marshall.

Other readings were presented by Mrs. Clemmer Greenstein, Mrs. Deuber Miller and Mrs. Harry Izenour. The following legends were given: "Christmas Rose," Mrs. Ray Stockton, "Holly Wreath," Mrs. Ada Neiderhiser; "Christmas Tree," Mrs. William Rance; "Santa Claus," Mrs. Harry Feicht; and the origin of Christmas cards was told by Mrs. Bittner.

Mrs. John Bailey was hostess for the social hour when refreshments were served. Mrs. Charles Youtz served for Mrs. Leo Myers, associate hostess, who was ill.

Red and green streamers decorated the table which was set in crystal for 20. The centerpiece was in keeping with the Christmas theme.

Members repeated the mishpach benediction to conclude the program.

The next meeting will be Jan. 3 at the church. It will feature a coverdish birthday dinner at 1 p.m.

Mrs. Thorne Hostess To Missionary Chapter

Mrs. Glenn Thorne of Damascus Road entertained the Ruth Esther Missionary Chapter of the Church of the Nazarene Thursday evening. Thirteen members were in attendance.

The meeting was opened with group singing led by Mrs. Edward Wilson. Scriptures were presented by Mrs. Edward Shoff, and Mrs. Thorne offered prayer.

Mrs. Eugene Flint, Mrs. Bruce Palmer, Mrs. Shoff and Phyllis Cusick read articles entitled "The Past Christmas in Africa" from the church magazine, "The Other Sheep."

The remainder of the evening was spent sewing for a missionary box to be sent to Africa. Nancy Tullis of W. 9th St. will be hostess at the Jan. 3 meeting.

Girl Scout Board Hears Reports

At a board meeting of the Salem Council of Girl Scouts held Thursday in the Memorial Building, the president, Mrs. Joseph Greenwood announced that Mrs. Carl Smith, vice president of the council, has been employed as a committee advisor to coordinate the work of the functional committees of the scouting program.

Mrs. Smith reviewed the policies of the staff and office with job descriptions. This is to be reviewed at least once a year as a requirement of the National Girl Scout Association.

Mrs. Smith reported that all troops are organized and have leaders, 629 girls being registered in the program. The Brownie program is reaching 59 per cent of the girls in the age group from 7 to 10, with 75 per cent of all second grade girls in the city registered. The intermediate program has 43 per cent and the senior program, 19 per cent. The decrease in the senior program is found to be due to lack of time because of other extra curricular activities in the high school age group.

Mrs. Ray Stiver, camp chairman, reported that the camp committee is working on a water program for Camp Merrydale and that work on the camp construction is progressing.

Mrs. Don Beeler reported 2,500 Girl Scout calendars were sold and request money for them should be turned in at once.

The next board meeting will be Jan. 3 at 9 a.m.

1957 National Auto Show Is Opened Today In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — In a setting as modern and glamorous as its newest product, the nation's auto industry opens its 1957 National Auto Show today.

Scene for the 11½ million dollar industrial extravaganza is New York's new Coliseum on Columbus Circle. For all practical purposes the show opened Friday night as thousands of persons roamed over three floors to inspect the last word in passenger cars and trucks and scores of cutaway displays of engineering component like fuel injection systems, high compression engines, braking systems and multiple barrel carburetor assemblies.

It was an invitational preview for the press, industry representatives generally and their friends. The main show runs through the next nine days.

There are 125 passenger cars on the second and third floors of the Coliseum. On the first floor are approximately 70 trucks and coaches. Counting in the huge rounded stage, from which a top musical revue will be presented six times daily, the presentation takes up 300,000 square feet of exhibition space.

Theoretically the show is restricted to what the industry knows as "production" model cars, cars that actually may be purchased in the market places. But several cars on display will not reach the production lines before next spring; some are so lavishly finished and upholstered that there appears some doubt that they could be obtained on anything but a "built-to-order" basis.

Early visitors displayed special interest in the Cadillac "Director." It is equipped with a rear facing seat to the right of the driver, for the busy executive's secretary. Equipment includes a typewriter that folds into a center partition, a telephone, letter filing equipment and a small screen upon which news bulletins and stock market quotations may be flashed.

American Motors emphasized its new Rambler Rebel model to come out next spring with electronically actuated fuel injection. Studebaker-Packard showed its 1957 model Packard Clipper and a glamorous-looking Golden Hawk sports model.

Attracting much interest at the Ford display was its newest Fairlane model with a retractable steel top. Mercury's leading edge-catcher was the new Turnpike Cruiser, with retractable rear window and numerous other advanced engineering features.

Chrysler showed its newest offering, the so-called "300" series — a 375-horsepower limited production model — and its Plymouth division showed a new "Fury" model, only 53½ inches high and powered with a 290-horsepower engine.

Topping the Pontiac exhibit were two cars, its Bonneville convertible to be powered with mechanically operated fuel injection and an exquisite creation it calls Laparisienne — a four-door sedan with interior and exterior finished in what Pontiac terms "coral mist" color and cream top and accent panel.

him a short while later in a Long Island honeysuckle thicket a few miles away.

Police found the child's body Aug. 24, the day after the FBI seized LaMarca.

LaMarca's brunette wife, Donna, 31, herself the mother of two children, collapsed after the verdict.

LaMarca's mother, Vitina, 57, also collapsed.

The jury did not recommend mercy in finding LaMarca guilty. That automatically doomed him to the electric chair.

Trial Judge Mario Pittoni scheduled the sentencing for Dec. 14.

The sentence will be subject to automatic appeal, however, under provisions of New York State statutes.

Send Rocket 125 Miles Up

Missile Attains
4,000 MPH Speed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Naval and civilian scientists blasted a Viking rocket — dubbed "the first test rocket of the earth satellite program" — 125 miles into the air early today.

The Defense Department said the rocket reached a peak velocity of 4,000 m.p.h. before plunging into the Atlantic Ocean about 180 miles from the launching base at Cape Canaveral, Fla.

Newsmen watched the huge 45-foot rocket, 13th in the Viking series, from a vantage point four miles away. One reported it "rose slowly and almost silently into the air," leaving "a glowing bright pink trail" as it picked up speed.

Firing took place at 1:30 a.m. The launching site was the Air Force Missile Test Center at Patrick Air Force Base, Cape Canaveral.

The department said the rocket was fired to test instruments and gather information to be used later in the launching of the earth satellite planned for the 1957-1958 International Geophysical Year. It was built for the Navy by the Glenn L. Martin Co. of Baltimore.

The IGY is a worldwide cooperative research program aimed at finding out more about the earth and the air around it.

The rocket was launched by the Navy's Project Vanguard, which supports the earth satellite program sponsored by the National Academy of Science as part of the U.S. participation in the IGY.

The rocket which carries the actual earth satellite into space will be a three-stage affair, each stage boosting the satellite a bit higher and then dropping away. The final push will put the satellite some 300 miles above the earth.

The satellite itself will be a relatively small shiny ball 20 inches in diameter, crammed with instruments to beam the secrets of space back to the waiting and watching scientists.

The satellite is expected to circle the earth at a speed of 18,000 m.p.h., for perhaps two weeks, finally burning up as it plunges downward again through the atmosphere.

much security the Atlantic Pact gives them," a member representative said.

The biggest event is the expected meeting of Secretary of State Dulles, British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd and French Foreign Minister Christian Pineau. It has not definitely been decided when — or even whether — they will meet as a Big Three.

Possible important developments during the coming session include:

1. Agreement on a better method of consultation before any member makes a move which might affect the others. This grows out of the Suez affair.

2. Agreement on extending the area of interest to include the Middle East. This grows out of Russia's effort to get behind NATO's defenses by entry into that area.

Referendum Results To Be Known Soon

LISBON — Ballots from the corn referendum Tuesday will be counted Wednesday, and results in Columbiana County will be announced promptly, according to E. A. Fisher, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Township committeemen who will conduct the election at the various polling places will bring the ballots to the county office and assist in counting, Fisher said.

Corn producers are urged to express their preferences by voting, even though they may not be interested in participating in soil bank or price support programs. The issue to be voted upon is whether corn acreage allotments or corn bases are to be in effect for price support.

The voting places are: Knox, West and Butler Townships, Reichenbaugh Chevrolet Garage, North Georgetown; Unity, Fairfield and Middleton townships, Fairfield Grange hall on Rt. 7, at East Fairfield; all other townships in the county, the A.S.C. office in the Farmer's National Bank building in Lisbon.

Two Men Sentenced
In Riesel Blinding

NEW YORK (AP)—Two men convicted in the acid blinding of labor writer Victor Riesel were sentenced today to five years in prison. A third defendant was sentenced to two years.

They were accused specifically of conspiracy to obstruct justice by helping Abe Telvi, 22, flee arrest after he allegedly hurled the acid at Riesel outside a Broadway restaurant April 5. Telvi later was found slain.

Federal Judge William B. Herlands gave the lightest sentence—two years—to Leo Telvi, 26, Abe's brother, who contended he acted out of love for Abe.

The five-year sentences went to Gondolfo Miranti, 37, an alleged "finger man" in the plot, and Domenico Bando, 47, an intermediary.

Olympic Games End With Russian Win In Soccer Finals

Eleven World Records Set

31 Olympic Marks Are Shattered

By TED SMITS

MELBOURNE (AP)—Russia carted home its first unofficial team and gold medal Olympic championship today as the games ended with solemn ceremonies on a chilly, damp afternoon following another Russian victory in the soccer finals.

As the Olympic scoreboard flashed, "Farewell and bon voyage 1956. Good luck, Rome 1960," American officials already were making plans for regaining world supremacy in Italy four years hence.

The final totals showed Russia marked superiority in track and a clear cut winner in points, 723 to 593 for the United States and also in gold medals 37 to 32. The Russians also amassed more total medals, gold, silver and bronze, with 99 to the Americans' 74.

Although the U. S. showed a field, bettering its 1952 Helsinki showing with 15 gold medals in men's track and field and one in women's, Russia piled up 11 gold medals and 161 points in gymnastics and six gold medals in wrestling.

Eleven world records were set and 31 Olympic marks were broken in the sports carnival that started Nov. 22 and finally was concluded this dull day when the flame in the bronze Olympic torch was extinguished. American athletes set six of the world records with its men's 400-meter relay team in track, Mildred McDaniel of Atlanta in the women's high jump, George Breen of Buffalo in a trial heat of the 1,500-meter swimming event and weightlifters Charley Vinci of York Pa., Isaac Berger of Brooklyn and Tommy Kono of Sacramento, Calif.

Russia's final triumph was a 1-0 decision over Yugoslavia in one of the roughest soccer matches of the tournament. Players on both sides were guilty of unnecessary fouls and personal feuds flared. After this rough and ready scramble, another capacity crowd of over 100,000 settled down for the brief, but impressive closing ceremonies. The final day's attendance pushed the unofficial total over 2,000,000 and appeared to have assured a small profit for the organizing committee.

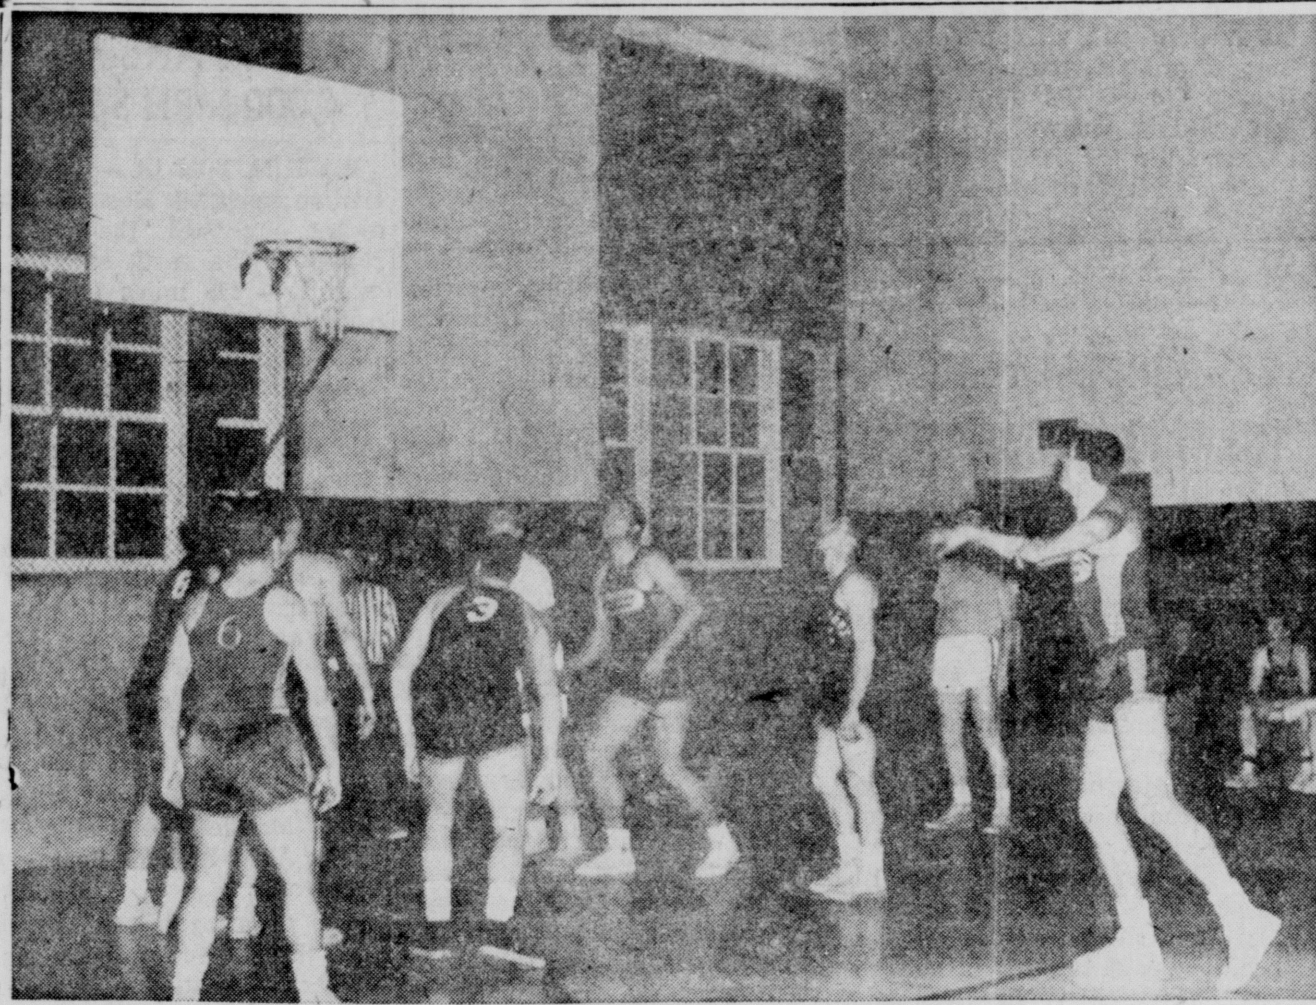

A cold wind swept across the cricket oval as the flags of the 68 nations were carried into the stadium with Greece first and Australia, the host nation, last.

In contrast to the impressive opening ceremony in which the full teams marched behind their flags, only about 1,500 athletes appeared at the closing. They did not march by teams but intermingled in a way the committee said would typify "friendly internationalization of sport."

This friendly spirit wasn't always present during the games, contested against a background of international strife in Europe and the Middle East.

A water polo game between Hungary and Russia was turned into a bloody battle and fans often jeered the Russians. Toward the finish of the games, there were a number of bitter protests about a "partisan" judging. Still, on the surface, the games were conducted in a friendly atmosphere and there appeared to be little tension among the athletes themselves.

Some 46 members of the Hungarian team didn't leave for home with the rest of the team as a CLASS A CITY LEAGUE OPENS SEASON: Bob Lutch pushes a free throw toward the basket, after being fouled early in the contest between Youngstown Kitchen and Midway Motors. result of the political unrest in their revolution-torn homeland. Others returned only to rejoin their families before moving on to some other nation.

Summing up, the Russians who made their first Olympic appearance at Helsinki in 1952 and lost to the U. S. 614-553½, showed remarkable all-around improvement. Their great scoring strength lay in the gymnastic events, wrestling, boxing and shooting. But they also had a double winner in track with Vladimir Kouts in the distance events.

The United States again dominated track and field with Bobby Morrow winning three gold medals by taking the 100 and 200 meters and running on the winning 400-meter relay team. Americans won all the field events except the javelin and hop, step and jump. The basketball team, as expected, won easily, whipping Russia twice.

Australia's swimmers abruptly ended an era of American rule taking every free style event. Mrs. Pat McCormick, the Lakeview, Calif. housewife, finished her career in a blaze of glory by completing an unprecedented "double double" in diving, repeating her Helsinki victories in the springboard and platform dive.

Murray Rose, Australia's new swim sensation, took three gold medals, beating Breen in the 1,500 meter final after the American had broken the world's record in a heat. Betty Cuthbert, Australian sprinter, also took three firsts in women's track.

There were few, if any, American athletes in the final parade of athletes at the closing ceremonies. Some already had left for home.

Three Battle For Men's Bowling Title

CHICAGO (AP)—A three way battle for the men's title and another victory for the five time champion in the women's division appeared a possibility today at the half-way mark in the 16th annual National All-Star bowling tournament.

As the 16 men finalists finished 32 of a scheduled 64 games, sturdy Ed Lubanski, a 27-year-old Detroit bowler who formerly pitched in the old St. Louis Browns' baseball chain, had a slight lead over Don Carter and Dick Weber, two St. Louis bowlers who roll for the Budweiser national team champions.

Lubanski won all four of his matches Friday and now has 153.11 Petersen points. Carter, a two time All-Star winner, has 155.07 points and Weber has 153.17. Defending champion Bill Lillard of Chicago was in seventh place. Two other former titleholders are far off the pace. Steve Nagy of Detroit is in 11th place and Joe Wilman of suburban Berwyn is in 14th.

In the women's division, Mrs. Marion Ladewig of Grand Rapids, Mich., the first five time winner of the tournament, averaged 207 for the day as she moved into the lead among the finalists with a 75.42 Petersen point total. She has won 12 of 16 games.

Trailing Mrs. Ladewig were Jere Price of Fort Worth, Tex., with 73.23, and the early leader, Marge Merrick of Detroit, with 72.14.

Under the Petersen point system, a bowler gets one point for each game won plus one point for every 50 pins knocked down.

Darlington Wins Over United Local

Darlington, Pa., cagers defeated the United Local team 61-41 in a game played at United Local Friday.

The invaders, paced by McRoberts and McCrea, stepped out in front 20-10 in the first frame and never relinquished their lead.

The score was 37-20 at the half and 50-29 at the end of the third period.

Jim Smith and Gary Lindesmith were high scorers for United Local, with 8 points each.

McRoberts got 16 and McCrea 14 for Darlington.

The United Local team is composed of freshmen and sophomores, since the high school has accommodations only for those grades this year. Three freshmen began the game last night.

The loss was United's fourth in as many starts.

The United Local team will play Beaver Local cagers at Beaver Local High School next Friday.

Anthony Scores Win Over Wallace

NEW YORK (AP)—Tony Anthony is clamoring for a light heavy weight elimination bout with Chuck Spieser today and Gordon Wallace is protesting the official count that ruled him a knockout victim in 1:34 of the first round at Madison Square Garden.

"He was on his feet at nine," said Wallace's co-manager, Harry Sheppard, after Friday night's short-lived bout. "Randy Turpin also knocked him down in the first and he got up and knocked him out. I'd like to go to the commission to make a protest."

Any protest is not likely to get much consideration for the New York State Athletic Commission already has the report of Referee Barney Felix who said, "Wallace's knee was on the floor at the count of ten."

The crowd of 2,000 that paid $5,000 to see the national television bout boomed the sudden ending because they felt short changed. Wallace holds the British Empire light-heavy crown although he weighed only 164 pounds to Anthony's 173½.

Anthony, 21, Golden Glove grad, shook Wallace with a left hook to the head in the early seconds. He cut loose with both hands, backing Wallace toward a neutral corner, and then sent his off-balanced opponent through the ropes with another two-fisted flurry.

Anthony's manager, Ernie Braca, said he wanted a match with Snieser, the winner to get a title shot at Archie Moore, the light heavy king.

Goshen Drops Tilt 59-45 To Lowellville

Goshen's Gophers lost their first game of the season Friday night as Lowellville smashed to a 59-45 victory in a game played at Lowellville. The Gophers now have a one-one record.

At the end of the initial period the two teams were dead locked 7-7. Lowellville then found the range, and at half time they led 23-16. In the third period, Goshen fought back, netting 14 points and limiting their opponents to four points. At the end of the third frame the Gophers led 30-27.

But in the last stanza Lowellville hooped baskets with uncanny accuracy, netting 32 points, while the Gophers netted only 15.

Gene Sladen and Paul Menichini had 16 and 14 points, respectively, for the winners, and Roger Wyss had 13 points for the losers.

The Goshen reserve squad dumped the Lowellville reserves 38-23. The Gophers' next game will be against Greenford on Goshen's home floor Dec. 11.

Giants 10-Point Favorites To Defeat Cleveland Browns

By The Associated Press

The New York Giants are 10 point favorites to defeat the Cleveland Browns Sunday and clinch their first Eastern Conference crown in the National Football League since 1946.

The Giants-Browns game in New York, the Bears-Cards meeting in Chicago and the Pittsburgh-Lions get-together in Detroit highlight the circuit's six-game weekend program.

Other Sunday games pit Baltimore at Los Angeles and Philadelphia at Washington. In today's only encounter, Green Bay will be at San Francisco. This one will be nationally televised via CBS.

The Giants need either a victory or a tie to wrap up the title. New York whipped the Browns 21-9 in Cleveland Oct. 14 and has shown steady improvement since, winning five, losing one with one deadlock.

Over-all, the Giants have a 7-2-1 record. The runnerup Cardinals are 6-4 and the third place Redskins are 5-4.

The Bears, trailing the pacesetter Lions by half a game in the Western Division, have been installed nine point favorites to beat their intricacy opponents.

The Lions, who will meet the Bears in the final regular season game for both clubs next Sunday, are rated 12 points better than Pittsburgh.

Washington has been made a seven-point favorite over the Eagles. San Francisco is favored by one point over the Packers and Baltimore by three over Los Angeles.

To Vote On Aid For Athletes

Big Ten Officials Draft Grid Schedule

CHICAGO (AP)—Big Ten faculty representatives and athletic directors hoped today to reach decisions on two important issues.

The faculty representatives expressed hope that they would be able to vote on a new financial aid for athletes program.

The athletic directors, meanwhile, hoped to finish drafting the 1959-60 football schedules.

Friday, the athletic directors voted to hold the Big Ten golf meet at Iowa, May 24-25; approved participation in a triangular All-Star track meet with the Pacific Coast Conference and the Southwest Conference if such a meet is held; approved the tennis championships for Northwestern May 23-25, and approved a proposal by the football coaches that visiting teams automatically must wear white jerseys and the home team a contrasting color.

Faculty representatives proposed formation of a committee to scrutinize the manner of approaching and retaining prospective Big Ten athletes.

This committee would study two statements made by the Council of Ten, comprised of school presidents.

The Council of Ten recommended "conscious attention" be paid to (1) "the presently large expenditures for visitation and entertainment of prospective athletes," and (2) the "growing diversion of athletic receipts to finance athletic scholarships."

Greenford Edged 51-49 In Overtime

Jackson-Milton edged Greenford 51-49 in a sudden death overtime at Greenford Friday night.

The score was tied 11-11 at the end of the first frame, but Greenford pulled ahead 25-20 in the second period. Jackson-Milton took the lead 37-33 in the third quarter and the game was tied 47-47 at the end of regulation play.

Each team scored two points in the first overtime period.

Dave Hiner was high scorer for Greenford with 12 points. Stanley and Rayburn each tallied 17 markers for Jackson-Milton.

Greenford now has a 3-2 won lost record for the season. The Greenford reserves defeated Jackson-Milton 28-16 in the preliminary game.

Greenford will play Goshen Union Tuesday at Goshen.

Columbiana Eagles To Erect Yule Tree

COLUMBIANA — Clipper Aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, will erect a decorated Christmas tree at the southwest corner of the public square early next week.

Columbiana High School cheerleaders made a house-to-house canvass last evening for the sale of season tickets to home basketball games. Adult tickets for reserved seat sections are $7 for the 10 home games. Season tickets for students are $2.

The Booster Club began last evening its annual Christmas tree sale at its stand on the S. Main St. lot next to Keller's Hardware. Orders for trees to be reserved will be received by Ray Spiker, John Dowd, Everett Warrick or Forrest Stark. Funds help support school athletics and the summer recreational program at Firestone Park.

Firestone Post has a dance scheduled for the American Legion home tonight at 9.

The Square Dance Club will meet in Pavilion 4, Firestone Park, at 8:30 tonight.

Senior High M.Y.F. of the Methodist church is at Camp Aldersgate, Leesville Lake, this afternoon for an over-night retreat.

Arno Holdreder represented Columbiana Class Room Teachers Association at the annual Ohio Education association conference in Columbus yesterday and today.

Members of Firestone American Legion Post will meet at the Seely-Bell funeral home at 8 tonight to pay respects to the late Gerald Kimble.

Princeton Names New President

PRINCETON, N. J. — A quick-minded 37-year-old professor here is to be the new president of Princeton University — the third youngest in the school's 210-year history.

He is Robert F. Goheen, Indiana-born father of six, who was named Friday to succeed Dr. Harold W. Dodds when he retires next June at age 67.

The surprise choice of the assistant classics professor from Princeton's own ranks came after a year and a half of canvassing possible presidents among the nation's outstanding educators.

Harold W. Helm, chairman of the executive committee of the board of trustees, said in announcing Goheen's appointment Friday that the board was unanimous for him.

Goheen will be Princeton's youngest president since 1759 when Samuel Davies, 36, was named to head the institution. He also is only the third president who was not a minister — the others being Dodds and Woodrow Wilson.

The new president was born in India as the son of distinguished American medical missionaries. After coming to this country at 15, he entered Princeton and earned Phi Beta Kappa honors.

District Man Fined

For Abandoning Dog

LISBON — Dale Wolfgang, 36, of Washingtonville was fined $10 and costs Thursday by Justice of the Peace Felix Butch after he pleaded guilty to abandoning a dog on a public highway.

The arrest was made by Russell Reichenbach, Columbiana County dog warden.

BLINDED GIRL HAS FAITH. — Eight-year-old Edith Maynard of Huntington, W. Va., who was accidentally shot by a younger sister rests in bed with her doll beside her. She was struck by bullet from the side and both eyes were hit. Doctors say there is little chance she will see again. Edith told newsmen, "Please print my picture in the paper because I want to see it."

Perry Grangers Set Teenage Dance

When Perry Grange met Wednesday night at Perry Grange hall, a teen-age dance was scheduled for Dec. 21 in the hall. The dance is planned for members of junior and senior high school age and their invited guests.

Six members were obligated in the third and fourth degrees by Ray Hilliard. They were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Long, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Spencer, Denise Duke and Fred Henderson.

A miscellaneous shower of gifts was presented to Mr. and Mrs. Russell Knapp. Lunch was served by the social committee headed by Mrs. Ray Hilliard.

The next meeting will be Dec. 19 in the grange hall. Instead of exchanging gifts, a collection will be taken to send to Magnetic Springs. A wedding gift will be presented to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Doyle.

Rejected Bodily From House Hearing

LOS ANGELES — Retired Brig. Gen. Herbert C. Holdridge, 64, was ejected bodily from a House subcommittee on Un-American Activities hearing when he stood up in the audience and accused the committee of "treason," "cowardice" and "subversion of the Constitution of the United States."

"Your actions are disgraceful," Chairman Clyde Doyle (D-Calif.) retorted Friday. "You are a disgrace to the United States Army and to your country."

"Mr. marshal, remove that man from the room," ordered Rep. Gordon H. Scherer (R-Ohio). Holdridge was the 1956 vice-presidential nominee of the National Prohibition party.

Two attorneys were also ejected from the stormy hearing, which is being held to determine whether there is any communist activity aimed at undermining the nation's security laws.

A. L. Wirin, counsel for the American Civil Liberties Union, was ordered from the room for exchanging remarks with committee counsel Richard Arens, and attorney Maynard J. Omerberg was ejected for laughing when Chairman Doyle commented on the desire of Congress to legislate intelligently.

KILLED IN CRASH

COSHOCK, Ohio — James Paul Shrimplin, 21, of nearby Warsaw, was killed early today when his car collided with truck parked on the opposite side of Ohio 36 in Warsaw, the state highway patrol reported.

Ohio 'Escape Artist' Under Double Guard

CLARKSBURG, W. Va. — A man who has escaped from Ohio authorities three times since last July—twice this week—was under double security in the Harrison County jail today.

Basil C. Hawkins, 26, was arrested at his father's two-room home near Shinnston, eight miles north of here, Friday night by state troopers.

The troopers found Hawkins hiding behind a bed on the floor. He is held in a cell within a cell as a fugitive from justice.

Last April 2 Hawkins was bound over to the Franklin County, Ohio, grand jury in Columbus on $10,000 bond on two counts of burglarizing an inhabited dwelling. He later was sent to Lima State Hospital for the criminal insane for observation, but fled while on a work detail in July.

Hawkins was arrested in Columbus Thursday for questioning about assaults on two women, both of whom identified him, police said. That afternoon, while in the corridor outside the Columbus detective bureau, Hawkins walked to an elevator, rode to the first floor, and ran out of the building.

At Nelsonville, near Athens, Ohio, early Friday, police picked up a man they identified as Hawkins walking along a highway. But he made another getaway through a small window in a restroom.

REFUGEES IN YOUNGSTOWN

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio — More than a score of Hungarian refugees—the first to come here from Camp Kilmer, N.J.—were to get a police escort today as they arrive via chartered bus. The American Relief for Hungary Organization says Youngstown may get a total of 500 refugees from the Soviet satellite.

MAN KILLED IN CRASH

MEDINA, Ohio — A truck-car crash on U. S. 42, just southwest of Lodi Friday killed George Calta, 62, of West Salem.

Mt. Nebo Grangers To Fete Newlyweds

A shower for Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Crawford, newlyweds, will be held during the meeting of Mt. Nebo Grange Wednesday evening.

The St. Jacob's Church congregation and Mt. Nebo members will jointly sponsor the event. The social committee requests members to bring pies.

At the Nov. 28 meeting of Mt. Nebo Grange, Lowell Smith, a delegate to the state grange meeting, reported on activities of the meeting.

Lloyd Bailey, worthy master, presided during a business session; and articles on farm news were reviewed by Carl Bailey. The group sang, "In the Garden."
